Firmly rooted in the Münsterland region.

RESPONSIBILITY

EXAMPLE

As a family company we have devoted ourselves for over 50 years to developing responsible, sustainable and healthy products as befits a tradition of modern craftsmanship.

With care and with feeling for design, parquet floors, which are meant to last for a whole generation, are created in our factory in Südlohn. Evidently based on nature's own example and respecting the efficient use of resources for our living environment.

The choice of parquet is always a choice for a genuine raw material, matured over many years. Wood is marked with nature's individual signature. Every single plank lying at your feet has a character as unique as your own.

WOOD

OUR PASSION

There is always something special to do with wood. Its sensual warmth and charisma convey security and creative power.

THE BEST FOR LIFE

PARQUET

Reason enough to give yourself ample time to make an informed and mature decision for a valuable parquet from our assortment „showing character“.

We hope you enjoy it.

Colour has a special emotional effect on lifestyle and interior design. It speaks volumes about the character of a person. Thus each one of the four parquet collections represents a specific character. Your choice of colour guides you intuitively to your own design style.

Far-sighted connoisseurs

The PURE COLLECTION is designed for straightforward people who take on the world with open eyes and adopt a far-sighted approach. The design of their living spaces reflects their yearning for air and space, but also clarity and functionality.

Wooden floors made from limed oak or ash characterise this uncomplicated lifestyle.

bright & fresh

Rational, open-minded and slightly analytical, these people approach life with serene optimism. Unspoilt and tranquil, this character is reflected in bright, fresh surfaces and simple forms.

Wood species such as hard maple or white surfaces in the PURE COLLECTION give expression to this beautifully light attitude to life.

Who dares, wins – with the goal clearly in sight: these people want to conquer the world. Full of energy and charm, they dedicate all their strength to reaching that goal and are proud of all that they have achieved.

The STRAIGHT COLLECTION characterises the perfect environment for this style connoisseur: Striking surfaces with tangible ageing, structure and profile add accentuating touches. The walnut in particular, with its mature, hard wood and a colour palette of strong brown shades, is the perfect protagonist.

SUSTAINABILITY

ter Hürne is FSC® and PEFC certified and supports the ecological and social aspects of total transparency and recognised sustainability in forestry.

FROM TREE TO FLOOR

A lot of work is involved between carefully selecting the growing regions and finally sealing the parquet surface.

Each individual step in the processing chain contributes enormously to the ultimate high quality of a ter

Hürne floor and allows us to create the marked diversity that characterises our „Showing character“ range.

Each unique product of nature is processed to create a surface with a wholly individual character.

Healthy living

All parquet floors supplied by ter Hürne are particularly low in emissions and therefore promote a healthy home environment. The strict test catalogue of the renowned ECO-Institute in Cologne means you can be sure of this.

FROM TREE TO FLOOR | Wood species

Wood is alive

As a living raw material, all wood species have their own typical features that set them apart from each other.

They not only differ in appearance, they also have individual degrees of hardness. Most light-coloured woods darken over time when exposed to sunlight, whereas dark woods tend to lighten somewhat.

The reproductions of floors shown in this catalogue are non-binding colour and grade illustrations. Variations are possible in real wood products due to natural growth. They emphasise the unique character of the natural wood material.

European hard maple

The structure of European hard maple is very homogeneous. The whitish-yellow wood ranks as one of nature's palest colours. Over the course of time, the colour becomes creamier. European hard maple ranks among the harder woods.

Hard Maple Canadian

Canadian maple, or hard maple as it is also known, is one of the hardest of all wood species. The colouring of its heartwood and sapwood can differ quite considerably. The colour can also adopt a creamish tinge under the influence of light.

Oak

Oak is one of the most popular choices for parquet flooring – not least because it is very hard wearing. Its basic brown-beige colour, which gradually adopts a hint of amber, can feature a very striking grain, depending on the grade.

Ash

Ash is well known for its excellent resilience and is a very popular choice for parquet floors. Its colouring ranges from cream to shades of light brown. Over time, ash tends to change colour slightly and become more straw coloured.

Bamboo

Bamboo, which strictly speaking is a type of grass with small swellings rather than branches, is very popular due, in particular, to its balanced appearance and superior hardness. The uniform yellow colouring also remains relatively stable over time.

Beech

Beech is coloured evenly in shades ranging from pale yellowish to salmon red. It darkens slightly under the influence of light. The marked structure gives beech floors a multi-faceted appearance. Beech is a wood with a medium degree of hardness.

Doussie

This African hardwood, which also goes by the name of Afzalia, features an elegant grain ranging from yellowish to red brown. The colour darkens slightly when exposed to sunlight. Doussie is particularly hard wearing and resilient.

Cherry American

Its red colouring makes cherry very popular. The wood has a marked degree of hardness. The creamy sapwood differs from the reddish heartwood. Over time, exposure to sunlight causes the reddish wood to darken and become more intense.

Larch

Conifers typically have a lower degree of hardness, and this is also true for the larch. The fibre growth is very straight, producing a corresponding knot pattern. The intense yellow colour of the wood fades somewhat over time.

Walnut

Walnut is a dark, very hard species of wood featuring a wide range of colours, from its creamy sapwood up to its brown heartwood. Walnut tends to lighten somewhat over time.

FROM TREE TO FLOOR | Plank formats

2390 x 200 mm

► The craftsman's multi strip

Wooden staves in various sizes arranged in different ways create parquet flooring that looks like it has been traditionally laid by craftsmen. A look that is so original, so balanced and so individual that the attention to detail is almost tangible.

2390 x 200 mm

► Virtuoso Multistripe

The many fine strips on each Multistripe plank are extremely narrow and extremely straight, and they give the floor an unbelievably strong sense of vitality and dynamism. This individuality full of contrast is the special charm of this design.

► Inspiring strip floors

The characteristic appearance of strip floors is inspired by the decks of sailing ships. The typical look of 3-strip floors is characterised by narrow, parallel real-wood strips. 3 strips are arranged on each plank, one next to the other. Depending on the colour and structure of the wood and the interplay of the strips of varying lengths, they can give the floor an overall effect that ranges from balanced and harmonious to very vivacious and expressive.

UNIQUE

Our strip floors own their unique appearance to a special production technique which enables the strips to be arranged in more than 60 different stave patterns. In lengths of up to 500 mm, the strips are much longer than is usual for this type of floor.

Classic plank floors

The plank floor represents the most richly traditional and original form of wood floors. Plank floors are characterised primarily by the particular length of the individual planks and give a strong impression of the natural growth pattern of the various woods. A floor that is open and generous.

1180 x 110 mm

► Narrow plank floors

The narrow plank floor combines the tradition of classic planks with a modern, elegant nuance.

RESPECT

With a width of 200 mm and a length of 2390 mm, we have a large parquet format that clearly stands out, especially in single plank floors. The solidity of the material, which took ages to grow, radiates an impressive expansiveness and respectful value.

COMPARING FORMATS

You can lay all of our floors in our floor studio with a simple click of the mouse. You can try out various layouts and combinations as you please.

FROM TREE TO FLOOR | Profiles

Round bevel

The gently rounded, continuous edge of the plank creates a soft, flowing transition from plank to plank and a balanced, harmonious impression across the entire surface of the floor.

V-bevel

The shape of this bevel, which is on all four sides, resembles the letter „V“. Its fine, geometrical profile contrasts with the generous dimensions of the planks.

Multi bevel

Love of detail and fine handcrafting have led to a renaissance of the strip floor. Every single one of the many long staves has been enhanced with a four-sided bevel which makes it stand out clearly. In this way, the modern „used look“ of a floor which has seen many years of use and developed a patina of wear is created. A beloved companion, worth looking after.

FROM TREE TO FLOOR | Surface finishes

The secret behind the expressiveness of a parquet floor is the interaction between the visible colouring and the tangible finish of the wood. Classic surfaces can be intensely, but gently, treated to give them a whole new identity – impressive, unusual and profound.

Deep-brushed surfaces

Very deep brushing of the soft parts of the wood creates a tangible intensity of feel and a clearly visible three-dimensional impression across the entire surface.

Brushed surfaces

Experiencing real wood means also feeling its contours. Brushing the soft parts of wood intensifies the wholly natural feel.

Sculptured surfaces (alpine)

The undulating contours of mountains and valleys turn planed surfaces into a dynamic floor experience..

Saw-marked look

A special surface treatment makes this floor look like it just came from the sawmills - authentic and genuine.

Aged surfaces (antique)

Traces of age are added to give the surface an antique, rustic flair right from the very start.

Pasted | Limed surfaces

The coloured paste penetrates the brushed depths of the surface. It provides imaginative and richly contrasting emphasis to the grain.

Smoked surfaces

Smoking the wood intensifies the impact of dark, powerful surfaces.

Natural oil in on-trend colours

Subsequent treatment with natural oils in different colours enhance certain nuances of the original wood colour. In this way the popular grey shades, for example, are created. No matter which type of finish our floors are given, they always retain their typical natural wood characteristics.

Patina look

A warm patina gives the floor its „used look“. Distinctive and modern.

Thermo-treated surfaces

Ash, in particular, reveals a whole new range of colours if subjected to thermal treatment for differing lengths of time.

Coloured surfaces

Special colours give certain types of wood a totally new look while still retaining the striking appearance of the grain.

FROM TREE TO FLOOR | Grades

Grades describe the expressive power of a wood floor. The careful selection and combination of knot content, grain and colour interplay add an entirely personal touch to each type of wood from which the planks are made. And because every species of wood has its own mind, the grades are also always characterised both individually and typically for each wood type, as shown by oak in these examples.

Even

A particularly harmonious surface; the absence of knots produces uniform colouring.

Balanced

The balanced grain, fine knots and occasional traces of sapwood create a surface that is entirely reminiscent of nature.

Expressive

Defined knots and visible sapwood create a vibrant and richly contrasting surface appearance.

Impulsive

Large knots, intense interplay of colours, rustic structures, filled cracks and visible sapwood give this particularly lively floor a healthy dose of individualism.

The final step involves giving the ter Hürne parquet floor one of three high-quality finishes: lacquered, matt lacquered or natural oil-treated. This finish constitutes the final visible and tangible touch that defines the charm of the surface.

Lacquer and matt lacquer

ter Hürne offers lacquered surfaces with two different levels of gloss. Matt lacquered floors have a silky matt appearance, whereas lacquered floors have a silky shimmer. The quality of both finishes is identically high. The multi-layered lacquer structure resists strong impacts, because it is both elastic and flexible. The surface remains sealed and protected. These floors are particularly easy to care for.

Lacquered floors have a light silky shimmer.

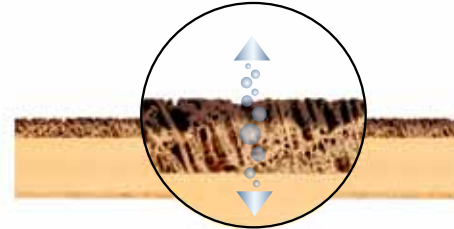

Matt lacquering produces a silky matt finish.

Natural oil

This open-pore, breathable oil based on natural raw materials penetrates the pores of the wood, adding moisture to its natural surface properties. Natural oil enhances the high-quality, genuine appearance of the wood and preserves its intensive feel.

Natural oil-treated floors can be refreshed from time to time or even partially or completely re-oiled, if necessary.

Natural oil produces a matt and rugged appearance.

FROM TREE TO FLOOR | Product construction

BEST POSSIBLE PROTECTION

IMPREGNATED

The highly effective impregnation gives the surface better protection against the ingress of moisture which is left standing on the floor for a relatively long time.

This special oil/wax emulsion at the ends of both the planks and the staves prevents rapid penetration of the parquet surface by moisture.

Every parquet product from ter Hürne enjoys this particular luxury.

Parquet is characterised by its basic 3-layer structure. The species of wood used for the surface describes the material of the wear layer. The middle layer and stabilising layer help to support the planks and make them highly resilient.

UNDERFLOOR HEATING SYSTEM

Underfloor heating

Parquet floors made by ter Hürne in thicknesses ranging from 11-15 mm are suitable for installation on warm water under-floor heating systems.

Warranty

ter Hürne quality guarantees a long life for the floors. Depending on the product, even up to 30 years.

The true quality of a parquet floor is apparent not only in the charisma of the surface of the wood in all its glory but in particular in the engineering of its connection techniques. The choice you have made will only prove to be the right one if the planks merge easily and securely to create a perfect whole, providing a stage for your daily life.

CLICKitEASY

CLICK IT EASY

The patented CLICKitEASY connection with the ingenious door-lock principle truly lives up to its name: Click the top edges of the planks together with gentle pressure, and the black tongue made from sturdy plastic locks the planks securely and easily in place.

CLICKitEASY is perfect for floating installation or gluing. Quick and easy installation plank by plank and a better quality result mean that the installation can be relied upon to last for decades.

As well as making even very long planks quick and easy to install, the proven click systems create strong load-bearing connections at head ends and long sides that are built to last.

LOCKitEASY

The patent-protected LOCKitEASY system is an equally secure and easy method for connecting one plank to the next. The black connecting tongue at the top edge of the plank seals the joint as soon as the next row of planks is aligned.

The big advantage:

Find the right accessories for your parquet. From the very first stage of selecting a suitable underlay material to the finishing touches of skirtings and in subsequent years with ideally matched care and maintenance products.

Underlay material

The underlay materials from ter Hürne provide quite considerable sound insulation. They reduce not only the sound that is generated in the room itself (footfall sound), but also noise that can be heard in the room below (impact sound). Noises not only become less perceptible; their tone is also deepened, which makes them more pleasant for the ear. The ter Hürne range of accessories also includes underlay material for floating installations which is particularly suitable for use on warm water underfloor heating systems.

- ★ Protection against rising humidity
- ★ Comfort due to reduced footfall and impact sound
- ★ Optimal utilisation of the warm water underfloor heating

Veneered skirtings

Skirtings are much more than a wall finish. With a bit of finesse you can give the room an entirely individual touch – and a very practical feature as well.

In the comprehensive ter Hürne range with its numerous shapes and colours you will be able to find the right skirting for your floor.

Metal profiles

Transitions to other rooms or to other floors can be found in nearly every room. They demand solutions that can level out differences in flooring heights, cover expansion joints or create neat edge finishes. The extensive range from ter Hürne includes numerous types, shades and installation systems of metal profiles, so you are sure to find the right one for your floor.
